

PP-80

Environmental Biotechnology :Achievements ,Opportunities and Challenges

Ashish Garg

Malwa Institute of Pharmacy, Gwalior

This paper describes the state – of –the –art and possibilities of environmental biotechnology and reviews its various areas together with their related issues and implications . considering the number of problem that define and concretize the field of environmental biotechnology ,the role of some bioprocesses and bios stems for environmental protection , control and health based on the utilization of living organisms are analyzed. Environmental remediation, pollution prevention, detection and monitoring are evaluated considering the achievement ,as well as the perspectives in the development of biotechnology. Various relevant topics have been chosen to illustrate each of the main areas of environmental technology .